JOHN E. MILHOLLAND ELECTED PRESIDENT-TO SEE THAT EVERY REPUBLICAN GETS

The parlors of the headquarters of the McKinley League, No. 29 East Twenty-second-st., were filled last evening with enthusiastic Republicans, members of the County Committee of the League. Two memwas the regular meeting night of the organization, Up to last evening the organization has been a provisional one. It was determined at the meeting, after a discussion in which all the prominent mem-bers took part, to make it permanent, and to take hold and push the McKinley canvass in this city as it ought to be pushed. The speeches indicated a purpose on the part of the organization to make a tetermined fight for fair and open primaries and honest conventions in New-York. The right of every ublican to enrolment in the Republican organization will be defended, and a plan perfected to prevent disfranchisement by the machine. Frauds at the primaries and unfair methods in conventions This County Committee will espouse the movement State into line with the Nation and to secure the nomination at the Republican State Convention of a candidate for Governor who will wear no man's elected: President, John E. Milholland; first vice-Thomas F. Eagan; second vice-president, Tucker, recording secretary, Samuel S. Koenig; orresponding secretary, A. F. Carll; financial sec-Victor K. McElheney: treasurer, William Brookfield; sergeant-at-arms, Henry Altmeier.

President Milholland, on assuming the duties of his office, made a stirring speech, mapping out the f the league. He congratulated his assopurposes of the league. He congratulated his associates on the great victory which had been won by the people in the nomination of William McKinley, and touched upon the part which the McKinley League of the State of New-York played in the momentous contest. But the work was unfinished, and would not be completed until the knell of bossism had been sounded in the Empire State and the Republicans of the city and State had been freed from the domination of the machine. To achieve these most desirable results every man must go to work and give his personal aid to the cause. The people were with the movement, and had already decreed its success. Mr. Miholland's address abounded in telling thrusts at the machine and its padded rolls, and was continuously applauded.

The president was authorized to appoint the following standing committees, which will be announced in a few days: Committee on Organization, on Finance, on Speakers and Halis, on Naturalization, on Parades and Entertainments, on First Voters, and on Legislation. Another committee, which will be a natural to the price of New-York City can secure enrollment in his election district, his vote received at the primaries, and not only received, but counted.

"What will be done about the two-thirds rule?"

"I think we shall have a two-thirds majority in the Convention, and that we shall not have to adopt the majority rule. I do not take stock, however, in this talk about "abrogating" the two-thirds rule. Each convention makes rules to suit itself, and there is no rule that is binding from one convention to another. If it is necessary, we shall adopt the majority rule. We cannot afford to have a man nominated who is voted for by the gold men. I mean by this that under the two-thirds rule the gold men will have the power of naming the candidate or of having a good deal to do with naming him."

Mr Jones will leave the city to-morrow morning. He will be joined to-night by the delegates from the Richmond district and by State Senator Blackstone, the other delegate from the 1st District. They may take over the stimulion to-night, but Mr. Jones has he dear that the Virginians will make up their minds whom they will vote for until they get to Chicago. They will then meet, and the candidate who got the largest vote in the caucus will have the full vote of the State cast for him under the unit rule.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The sudden conversion of Mr. Morton's late supporters in this State to the cause of McKinley is one of the amusing features of the campaign. Before day that he was prepared now to go into the field against the Green-Dunn combination, and Mr. Bayless usually knows what he is talking about. On this point the organ of the reform element. The Einghamton Herald, which has rendered such effective service throughout the campaign remarks. Those very ardent Platt men. Messrs. Dunn, Green, Harms and their coterie, still imagine that they are considered the origina McKinley men, but just as soon as they realize that no Platt man is to be recognized as the leader of the McKinley men, they will feel that it is their daty to let politics alone in this year of grace. Mr. Platt smote the cheek of Mr. Hanna, and much as we regret to say it. It must be confessed that Mr. Hanna has not yet shown a disposition to turn the other cheek so that Mr. Platt may smite that also. On the contrary, he appears to be preparing to brimstone Platt of the point where the jugular vein is nearest the jawborn.

Kinley is a foregone conclusion," "The Ballston Journal" points out that herein may lie the danger of too much confidence as to future results, and urges every Republican to do his whole duty from now until Election Day.

Mr. Jenkins, Editor of "The Syracuse Herald," is read out of the party councils by "The Standard" of that city, because of hir silver leanings. "The Standard" states that Mr. Jenkins was at the recent Republican conference held at Mr. Reid's house. This is a mistake. Mr. Jenkins was not there, nor did he take part in the conference held subsequently at the State Club. He declared his position in a manily, straightforward manner, as any gentleman holding his particular views might be expected to do under the circumstances.

party is making of Mr. Platt's recent declaration that McKinley is 'not to be safely intrusted with a great executive office." The Buffalo Commercial" asks. "Cui bono? Both will admit probably that they can eat crow. The essential facts are that whatever Platt or platforms may say, McKinley can be intrusted with the Chief Executive office."

"The Whitney wing of the Democracy may not be capable of stemming the tide of the 50-cent dollar, yet nevertheless," says "The Saratorian," "it will be stemmed. The Republican party, headed by William McKinley, has that object in view."

McKinley's friends in this city is conceded on all "The Union and Advertiser," of Rochester, declares movement on the political boards to-day." Of the delegates from Monroe County it has this to say: The representatives of the anti-Platt element in Rochester reported by the New-York papers as participating in the movement against the Republican boss of the State were John Van Voorhis and Andrew Ludolph. Mr. Ludolph is a comparatively new statesman in local Republican politics. But Mr. Van Voorhis is an old stager with a grievance. He has an old grudge against Boss Aldridge and the Platt machine, by which he was knocked out for the Republican nomination for Congress two years ago, and the prize was awarded to Henry C. Brewster. Two years ago the Van Voornis faction labored under the grize was awarded to Henry C. Brewster. Two years ago the Van Voornis faction labored under the great disadvantage of having no organ, or rather, an organ that had too many mortgages upon it and was too frequently in the Sheriff's hands to be of any service. Now they have The Post-Express, which is not only hostile to Platt, but is the original McKinley organ of the town. Thus equipped, the Van Voorhis faction ought to make quite a fight for the mastery."

Speaking of Mr. Platt's experience at St. Louis. "The Binghamton Republican" unkindly reminds people that it will not grieve him any, because "he used to it," adding: "At Cincinnati he was for Conkling when Hayes was nommated; at Chicago Union," be followed by hundreds of thousands of members of his party after the convention at Chicago.

Mr. Hanna's determination to utilize the organization which was formed throughout the country for McKinley's nomination to secure the election of the ticket is, in the eyes of "The Syracuse Post," a splendid illustration of the excellent judgment of the chairman of the National Commutee.

"Holland," the correspondent of "The Philadelphia Press," after a careful survey, thinks the combination that has been formed against Platt formidable because it gives indication "of a grim purpose not to let up until it succeeds or is beaten." "Using the nomination of McKinley," he adds. "banking on the support of Hanna and appealing to the McKinley campaign or the distribution of the careful survey that they intend, if possible, first to shut out the machine leaders from any large share in the management of the McKinley campaign or the distribution of the campaign funds, and, second, to fight for the control of the State Convention. The combination that has been formed for the members is formidable by reason of the State Convention of the State Convention of the State Convention of the McKinley campaign or the distribution of the campaign funds, and, second, to fight for the control of the State Convention. Thus they sayfer to name the candidate for Governor and wrest from his purpose is not one whose strength should be underestimated. that Mr. Platt is going to exhaust every method to beat Mr. Miller in that county. "Neither time nor money," says "The Utica Press," "will be spared to destroy Mr. Miller's power and influence. Platt demands his scalp, and will not rest contented until it hangs from his belt. Warner Miller may be facing his political death, and then again he may be facing his political draune. He no doubt expects a desperate fight. He is inside the irreastworks, so far as Herkimer County is concerned, and the Platt adherents are on the outside."

New-Orleans, July 2 (Special).-The National Republican party, as the sugar planters called them-selves to-day, became the Republican party. The leaders of the faction held a secret meeting to-day and decided upon this, meaning that they will claim the regular organization, hold a ratification meeting, and soon afterward organize a convention to nominate Republican electors. This is a "white Be man's party"; negroes will have no voice in it, and def Republican sound-money and protection platform and the exclusion of the blacks. Their calculation R. H. The latter will hold a ratineation meeting on July II, and a convention soon thereafter. That led to the decision of the planters to forestail each move by several days. All possible pressure will be brought to bear on the Republican managers to secure recognition, and failing in that the planters will go it alone, hoping to build up a party which will be a power in the State. They hope to carry New-Orieans and a number of the parishes or counties, and will assert that if they are allowed to boss the State organization they have a good chance to place Louisiana in the Republican column.

The McKinley League of the Thirty-fifth Assembly District held a ratification meeting in Republican Hall, Fordham, last evening and listened to addresses from local speakers. The meeting was called to order by Dewitt Clinton Overbaugh, of Kingsbridge. He made a speech in which he said A WESTERN PORTRAIT.

THE POPULISTS' ATTITUDE.

DEMOCRATS IMPROBABLE

THE LEADERS FAVOR PUTTING UP A CANDIDATE

Washington, July 2.-As the time for the Chicago Convention draws near it becomes apparent that the more shrewd and influential Populist leaders are growing more and more distrustful of the Demodislike and distrust of the "sound money" If these leaders can have their way, the Populists will not support the nominee of the Chicago Convention, Senator Butler, of North Carolina, for example, is exceedingly outspoken on this subject. In a letter which will be published in the next issue of his newspaper, "The Caucastan," Mr. Butler says:

says:

A number of Democrats are now predicting that Teller and his friends will go into the Democratic party. Of course, this is idle talk, for he will do no such thing. What a grievous blunder it would be for Teller and his friends to leave one old party, that had broken its promises and netrayed the people, to go into another one with equally as bad a record, simply because it is making more fair promises at this time. There is but one hope for siver and the people, and that is for every man who opposes the gold trust and monopolists to raily together under the people's banner at St. Louis on July 22.

The sanguagement that Mr. Whitney would give other prominent gold men would go to the Chicago Convention, has been seized upon by the silver silver Democratic leaders who have so long de-ceived the people and kept the financial question in the background, when they knew it was the overshadowing question, but who are now trying to hold the honest rank and file of their party in line, when they can no longer fool them, by declaring for silver, are busily engaged in putting up a man

PLANS FOR THE SANDY HOOK STATION. A PERMANENT ARTILLERY GARRISON TO BE LO-CATED THERE-WORK TO BEGIN AT ONCE.

Washington, July 2 (Special) -Plans have been prepared at the War Department for important im-provements at the Sandy Hook military station, fficially known as Fort Hancock. These have been approved by Secretary Lamont, and the proba bilities are that in the near future the work of building quarters and barracks at the station sufficient for the purposes of a fair-sized Army post will be begun. The plans drawn up contemplate the erection of a number of houses for officers and a barracks to accommodate about 100 men, and the of the Quartermaster-General. It is proposed to make the buildings of brick, and to place in them all modern conveniences for the health and commore formidable. Congress took up the subect, and in the Army Appropriation bill provision was made for quarters and barracks in connection with a permanent artillery garrison at Fort Han-with a permanent artillery garrison at Fort Hancock.

For this purpose Congress authorized the application of $10,000 of the total appropriation for the fordification and equipment of the new fort. It is expected that this money will suffice to provide what is known as a two-battery post, and that will mean a garrison large enough to man the defensive works already constructed, although not sufficient for all future needs. Therefore the plans have been so projected as to permit of a ready extension of the quarrers at any time. They have already been prepared, and the quartermaster's Jepartment will at once take steps to procure all further necessary information for beginning construction work.

Much has already been accomplished at Sandy Hook that is unknown to the public in the matter of placing moriar batteries, and there are also several heavy online modern rifles there mounted on disappearing carriages. The ordnance shops are making rapid progress with other heavy guns, and it is expected that considerable additions will be maile to the Fort Hancock defences as soon as the engineers can prepare the emplacements, possibly this summer or fall.

GERMAN SUPPORT FOR M'KINLEY.

LICAN NOMINEE. From The Chicago Staats-Zeitung (Dem.)

And now McKinley has formally accepted the Presidential candidacy tendered him in solemn manner by a deputation. His speech of acceptance has a ring that inspires confidence. McKinley reserves a thorough discussion of the pending issues for his letter of acceptance. The speech of acceptance deals only with the principal issue, namely, the questions of the currency and the restoration of the disturbed equilibrium of the Na-restoration of the disturbed equilibrium of the National finances, in connection with which, of course, the tariff question is considered.

In regard to the standard, the speech declares in unequivocal manner for sound money, and in regard to the tariff it is just as decisive for reciprocity as for protective tariff.

The passages on the tariff must agreeably touch even the opponents of high tariff because of their moderation. The passages on the standard, though, could be more decisive. However, they justify the conclusion that McKinley has the honest determination to execute the St. Louis money plank with his best efforts. And the course of the campaign will strengthen the power of his efforts.

AMBULANCE DRILL IN CAMP.

THE 8TH HOLDS ITS FIRST REGIMENTAL DRILL.

THE SQUADRON'S HORSES GUN-SHY-FIELD DAY SPORTS A GREAT SUCCESS-SENATOR BAINES AMONG THE VISITORS.

State Camp, Peekskill, N. Y., July 2.-The Medical Department of the National Guard has received considerable attention the last two years, the rec-ommendations that have been made being fully carried out as nearly as possible. This is making the department one of much efficiency. To-day it received a new ambulance of the regular United States Army pattern, with a red cross on the body of the wagon just back of the driver's seat, and "N. G. N. Y." in large letters on the side. It has all the latest appliances, including those for carrying water and medicines. It will be driven by Trooper. W. H. Lasson, of Troop C. Brooklyn, who has been detailed as ambulance orderly. He will have full charge of the ambulance during the season. It is to be kept exclusively for camp use.

is giving the ambulance corps some excellent exercises during the drill hour each day. This morning was spent in teaching them how to pitch a tent and how to carry a litter over fences, a large wooden frame having been constructed to represent a fence. To-morrow afternoon the corps will be introduced into the mysteries of cooking in the field.

The first of the regimental drills was held this morning and was excellent from start to finish. The provisional battalion was added to the Sth's battalions for the purpose of the drill, which made quite an extensive regimental line. The sun was apparently as hot as on yesterday, but no one seemed to mind it very much, at least, not sufficiently so to feel the necessity of dropping out of the line. The squadron was the only organization to use ammunition during the drill. They had extended order movements and fired volleys at will while mounted Nearly all of the horses were gun-shy, though they did not like it. One trooper was dis-mounted by his horse's rearing. He started on a run after the horse, which turned and made for the The recall had just sounded, and

There were three heats to this complicated race, and they were won in the following order:

Hurdle race—Won by Nichols, Troop 2; Bates, Troop 3, cond. Time—1 50. Low reach at gallop, picking up handkerchief on ground

The supper hour was not far away when the games were finished, and most of the visitors rematned to see the evening parade, which was one of the prettiest of the week. It was received by Major Henry C. Ridabock, of the 8th Regiment. Company F's excursion was successful, judging from the number of persons who came up the hill from the dock at 2 o'clock this afternoon. They remained for the evening parade with the other vis-itors, and then hurried down the hill to their boat. Among the visitors in camp to-day were Senator Raines, General G. D. Scott, formerly colonel of the 8th Regiment; Colonel G. M. Smith, of the 6th Regiment; Colonel F. V. Greene, of the 7tst Regiment; Adjutant William G. Bates, of the 7tst Regiment; Adjutant William G. Bates, of the 7tst Regiment; Major G. T. Lorigan, of the 9th Regiment; S.
